

Calling all young aspiring artists!

Do you have an interest in protecting our marine environment? Have you learnt about Indonesia before?

If yes, we need your help!

JARI is a locally run marine conservation organisation based in Lombok, Indonesia.

With a strong focus on marine education programs, our overarching aim is to improve the condition of Indonesia's threatened marine ecosystems through education, conservation, research, eco-tourism and, most importantly, working together with local communities.

One of our most successful initiatives has been our Sister Schools Program, which aims to help both boost Indonesian language and cultural literacy while supporting local communities through environmental education.

We have recently put together a storybook in English and Indonesian to distribute to our Sister School partners, however we do not yet have illustrations to help tell the story.

We therefore would like to invite you to participate in the 'Laut Sahabat Kita / The Sea is our Best Friend' Drawing Competition. The winning illustrations will then be selected for publishing.

We hope that this will offer the opportunity for students in Indonesia and Australia to submit their own depictions of the story and showcase different the perspectives between our two nations.

You may register as either an individual student or a whole classroom.

Please send you expressions of interest to jarioutreach@gmail.com
